Happy First Day of Spring, Ivy families!

Although we are focused on the Coronavirus (also known as COVID-19) and its impact on the health and well-being of our family, community, and way of life, spring is here! On this first day of spring, let us think about new beginnings, renewed hope, and new opportunities.

Stay Connected with Ivy
We are working tirelessly to stay on top of the most current information about COVID-19:

● Visit our website (www.ivyprepacademy.org) for the most up-to-date information, guidance, health tips from Nurse Charite.

● Get Grab and Go meals for scholars between 11am and 1pm on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays (enter the campus through the back gate).

Look for the Good and Connect
As important as it is to learn about COVID-19, there has never been a more important time in the history of our school for all of us to pull together and look for good things:

● Turn off the television and put down your cellular phone. Reflect on positive memories and thoughts. Make new memories. Tell funny family stories.

● Avoid stressing about your scholar’s e-learning. Contact teachers by email should you need help.

Care for Yourself
Self-care is more than a catchphrase in times like these. It is so important that you take care of yourself and others.

● Check on your scholars and their health and well-being.

● Continue with hand-washing, social distancing, and all other advice from the CDC and the Georgia Department of Public Health.

We are in this together. Let us all remain equally committed to doing our part in reducing the spread of the virus and in contributing to our ability to remain #IvyStrong once the COVID-19 crisis has ended.
